

January Champions for Christ-Responsibility

Responsibility is fulfilling our just duties; accepting the consequences of one's words and actions, intentional and unintentional.

Grades K-2

This student is a well-rounded, responsible child. She does the right thing all of the time, without expecting a reward or recognition. This student is accountable for herself and takes pride in her school work. She is trustworthy, dependable, honest and compassionate. I have never had to remind this student of the classroom rules, to get back on task or follow directions. She listens every day, is respectful to those around her and makes wonderful choices because she knows it is the right thing to do.

Nominated by Mrs. Lewis 2nd Grader Hayden Passuello

Grades 3-5

This trustworthy young man always steps up to help in our classroom, willing to run errands and help in any way he can. Not only is he responsible in our classroom, This student is called to the office frequently to bring home important things, as his mom works with our PTO. This student is always ready, willing and excited to help with these important responsibilities.

Nominated by Ms. Silver 3rd Grader Spencer Passuello

It is with pleasure that I nominate this student to be a Champion for Christ for the month of January. This student has shown responsibility for his work and really grown with the desire to improve his academics. He asks me questions in class and wants to know the next day how he did on his work. He shows disappointment when he knows he didn't do as well as he had hoped and tremendous excitement when he succeeds. It is my honor to nominate this student as a Champion for Christ.

Nominated by Mrs. Avery 5th Grader Ja'Von Harris

Grades 6-8

This student is an outstanding student leader. He takes responsibility by helping others around him without being asked. He volunteers to open doors, carry something for someone, or to just check-in on a student or staff member to see how they are doing. This student showed responsibility by taking ownership for his grades, test scores, and other documents that were necessary to apply for high school. When faced with challenging situations he takes responsibility for his actions no matter what the consequences may be. This student is a true role model of responsibility

This student has shown the virtue of responsibility by being here at school on time each day. He shows responsibility of being respectful and kind towards myself and his classmates. He greets me every morning with a "Hello" or "How are you doing Mrs. Lyons?" He was very responsible on a Friday by stepping in to serve Mass when his classmate was absent. I also know that he takes the responsibility for the safety of his sister as they walk home every night together.

Nominated by Mrs. Lyons and Mrs. Empie 8th Grader
