Cardinal Virtue of Prudence

During this school year we have been working on the Cardinal Virtue of Prudence and its related virtues.

Prudence is the virtue that enables us to reason and act rightly in any given situation. Prudence helps us to perfect our intellect and our natural ability to judge correctly.

During November and December we are working on the related virtue of Foresight.

Foresight is the consideration of the consequences of one's actions, thinking ahead, thinking of options, pray, think, gather information, make a plan, make a decision, and then act.

K-2

This student has shown so much change this last month he has been working extremely hard on his class work and his behavior. His growth and foresight is extraordinary. This student has shown his abilities through the whole group and independent work as well. He has also shown foresight by taking accountability for his actions, and being honest in some truths that may be hard to admit. The growth within him thus far in first grade has been amazing. Nominated by Ms. Meyer and Ms. Jeannine Congratulations to First Grader Liam Kall

3-5

This student has the ability to judge correctly what will happen and base her actions on this knowledge, she is good at thinking ahead. I have seen this student navigate friendships with patience, waiting to get all the information and not making a quick decision. This student is wise in getting her work completed and turned in (with her name on it) knowing that it is not always easy, but is the best thing for her. This student is a thinker, not a reactor, she shows a lot of character in this area.

Nominated by Ms. Silver, Congratulations to 3rd grader Korby Swartz

This student is always prepared for the day. She anticipates what books and supplies are needed for class. She is organized and assignments are completed on time. Beyond being wonderfully organized she has been able to use the gift of foresight in helping to guide her three younger siblings in arrival and dismissal. She carries herself with kindness and virtue.

Nominated by Mrs. Hennessy and Mrs. Empie

Congratulations to 6th grader Samariah Thomas
